Please Note: I generally do not encourage the use of lap tops in class. If you have a documented need for them, please do see me so that we can make sure that your use of the lap tops does not interfere with others. The evidence shows that these are used for things that have nothing to do with class and they distract others. The same goes for the use of cell phones and texting. There is zero tolerance for their use.

Email: Please email me at: akacem@colorado.edu if you need to reach me. Generally speaking, it is much easier to come to my office and or right after or before class if times allows. Avoid lecture notes from another student. When sending an email message, please do include a subject such as

Prerequisites: Econ 2010 and Econ 2020

Required Books:

Michael P. Todaro and Stephen C. Smith Economic Development, Tenth Edition, 2009, Addison Wesley

William Easterly. The Elusive Quest for Growth. MIT Press, 2001, paperback edition.

Glossary: posted on D2L. Please consult and review these. They will be assigned for one or more of the exams. You will be notified prior to each exam as to how much to study.

Three assigned chapters posted on D2L from the following:

rest have done so much ill and so little good, Penguin Books, 2006.

Back to basics series: posted on D2L. You can use it as background material or refresher for key concepts that you may wish to review.

Purpose of the Course:

The purpose of the course is to acquaint the student with the major issues in development economics and policies. By the end of the course the student should be acquainted with most of the major issues in economic development policy and what both developing countries and international institutions are doing to confront the major constraints facing poor countries.

Schedule of Readings and Topics:

The class meets once a week for two and half hours. The outline below is tentative and may change somewhat depending on the pace of the class and case studies shown. The material covered in class may be more than what your outline shows and additional readings will be assigned during the semester.

Attendance and general exam policy: Attendance is required. You are given the exam dates in advance so do plan ahead. There are no make up for missed exams. No exception. (Travel plans, etc.. will not do). If you have a documented medical excuse for the specific day of the exam, then we will consider it. Attendance means being there for the whole class period. The same applies for the exams. Once the exam starts, students are required to stay in the classroom during the whole exam period.

Course outline:

Below is the course outline. Some material may be added during the semester so be in class and stay informed. If and when we have a guest speaker, the date and topic will be announced in class as well.

Note about the mid-term exams and the final:

1. Some CU courses that do not meet at the same time and day as ours, do give evening exams and it may conflict with our mid-terms. Please note that our exam will be given as scheduled by CU on Monday evenings during our class time, and will not be changed.
2. Please bring a calculator to the exam. No cell phone use in place of a calculator.
